HEAVY FAILURE

S. Renaker & Son, of Winchester, File Petition in Bankruptcy Saturday.

(Cynthiana Democrat.)

Petitions in voluntary bankruptcy were filed with United States District Judge A. M. J. Cochran at Frankfort Saturday by the firm of S. Renaker & Son, produce and poultry dealers of Winchester, Ky., and S. Renaker, of Cynthiana, and Leon Renaker, of Winchester, individually.

The total liabilities of the firm and individuals, are said to be about $35,000, and assets from $12,000 to $15,000. The petition of the firm, S. Renaker & Son, places the liabilities of the firm at $14,000, while the firm's assets include a stock of goods worth $1,000, household goods worth $102.50, and personal property valued at $42.50.

It is said the Clark County National Bank of Winchester, is the chief creditor, holding, it is alleged, notes for $13,000. The Farmers National Bank of Cynthiana, is said to hold S. Renaker's notes for $3,500 which are secured by mortgage on property in this city. The other creditors are principally Eastern parties.

THE LETTER "E".

Some one has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time. For some reason the someone overlooked the fortunes of the letter, so we call his attention to the fact that "e" is never in war and always in peace, it is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life, no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there could be no editors, devils or news-Exchange.

FIGURES TELL DE- PRESSING STORY

Thirty Thousand Workers Have Been Laid Off by the United States Steel Corporation.

(Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat-Chronicle) Columns of the New York Times were devoted on Monday to a review of financial, commercial and industrial conditions the country over, and in many quarters hopes were held out that the turning point had been reached, and that a gradual improvement might be expected from now on. In other words, the people are eagerly waiting for the return of conditions of prosperity that existed when the Republicans were in power and that took wing as soon as the Democrats proceeded to put their economic policies into effect.

Of course no one desires to see the depression continue for political effect, or is so eaten up with partisanship as to cast doubts on the predictions of a speedy resumption of business activity. Hard times affect Republicans as well as Democrats, and a renewal of prosperity would benefit them just as much as it would their party opponents. No one who has ever actually felt the pinch of hard times, or who has known by experience what it means to be "laid off," would speak lightly of the sufferings of those who are out of work as "psychological."

Tables of the conditions of employment in the concerns operated by the United States Steel Corporation, as published in the Times, show very clearly how real the depression has been and how remote from anything that could be called "psychological." The number of employees for the first six months of this year has ranged from 208,000 in March to 188,000 in May. The average number of employees for the period named has been 196,300, as compared with 222,849 for the same period in 1913. The average monthly pay roll for the first six months of this year has been $88,998,000, as compared with $105,231,000 for the same period in 1913. No has the shrinkage in employment by any means been confined to the steel industry.

NOTHING DOING IN THE NEWS LINE

A gentleman was away from home six weeks. When he returned, his colored coachman met him at the station. He said, "Sam, any news?" Sam said: "No news. No sir, no news, only your dog died." "Is my dog dead?" "Yes, sir, he shore is." "What was the matter with him?" "Well, sir we think he died from eatin' burnt horse flesh."

"How did he come to eat burnt horse flesh?" "Your barn burnt, and burnt up de hosses, and de cows, and we think de dog eat too much horse flesh and died."

"How did the barn happen to burn?" "We think it caught from a spark from de house."

"Did the house burn?" "Yas sir, it shore did, and a spark from de house sot de barn on fire and it burnt and burnt de hosses, and we think de dog eat too much burnt horse flesh."

"Well, Sam how come the house to burn?" "It caught from a candle."

"How could it have caught from a candle? I had electric lights and never used candles."

"Your mother-in-law died, and they had candles around her coffin, and a certain caught afire and sot fire to de house, and a spark from de house sot fire to the barn, and it burnt, and burnt de hosses, and we think de dog eat too much burnt horse flesh, and he died."

"Is my mother-in-law dead?" "She shore is. You needn't be uneasy about dat. She shore is dead."

"Well Sam, is there any other news?" "N. sir, no more news. Since I come to think of it, your wife run off wid de chauffeur. Nuse has been mighty scarce since you went away."

PARIS MAN MAY BE GIVEN HERO MURAL.

The courage and cool-headedness of Harry Jeffers, of Paris, local agent for the Bluegrass Traction Company, averted an accident on an interurban line, near Frankfort, Sunday and his friends have started a petition for a medal for him.

With his wife and two children, Mr. Jeffers was riding to Frankfort on an interurban car. When a train of the Dunbar's Station near Frankfort, it was observed by the motorman that a freight car that had taken a siding was not "in the clear." Fearing that he could not stop the car, and believing that he would be injured, the motorman leaped from the passenger car.

Jeffers, observing what had happened rushed to the place of the motorman. He was not acquainted with the operation of the car, but was willing to take a chance to save the lives of the passengers.

Jeffers succeeded in stopping the car sufficiently to prevent a heavy crash, and only two persons were injured.

Motorman George Cooks was cut on the arms, and Sam Woolridge, a negro passenger, was hurt in the back.

KENTUCKY HORSEFLESH PRE-EMINENT THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE WORLD

Three Thousand Dollar Prize—Earth's Unequalled Equines Allured By Dazzling Stake In Commissioner of Agriculture's Five Gaited Saddle Horse Ring

Kentucky horseflesh is recognized as pre-eminent throughout the world and it is, therefore, only fitting that the state should boast the greatest premium ever offered in a contest for equine class, as will be the case when the champion saddle horses of the world gather at the twelfth annual Kentucky State Fair, to be held September 14-19 next, to compete in the Commissioner of Agriculture stake of $3,000.

There has never been a like sum offered in a contest of this kind, the nearest approach to the amount being the $2,000 prize money offered last year in the same five-gaited saddle-horse event, for which J. W. Newman, Commissioner of Agriculture, stands sponsor.

The announcement of this award in the classification of the horse department of the State Fair catalogue for 1914, will be certain to cause a sensation among horse owners and breeders throughout the country, and it is an assured fact that the greatest lineup of blue-blooded animals the country has ever witnessed will be in the big hippodrome ring on the night of Friday, September 18.

In Eight Classifications. The $3,000 premium is to be divided into eight classifications, the first being $550, the second $500, the third $450, the fourth $400, the fifth $350, the sixth $300, the seventh $250, the eighth $200, with a $100 silver trophy going to the winner of the first money. The fact that Hazel Dawn, winner of last year's $2,000 stake and the $1,000 for the year prior, is eliminated from the contest this year by her sale.

TARLEY'S MAMMA

By Eleanor Duncan Wood, of Maysville, in Ladies Home Journal.

A baby came into our lives one day—An orphaned baby not yet two—And because he worshiped my brown-eyed boy,

He, mimicking, called me "Mamma" too.

"Stop that!" the Hair Apparent cried.

As he knitted his brow in a fury fine.

"I gave you crib and my hobby horse.

But you can't have my Mamma; she's all mine!"

The soft lips quivered, the bright eyes filled,

And "Tarley's Mamma," he whispered low,

Learning the lesson his idol set.

And holding it stoutly through weal and woe.

So whether he ravaged the strawberry bed,

Or played like a cherub new-fledged,

Or played like a cherub new-fledged,

The call, "Tarley's Mamma," rang up to me.

I made no protest; Love is a flower

That with forcing dies, and I knew my own:

So I hid my time through the summer hours,

While the breezes sang and the bright sun shone;

And just at the end there came a day

When the merry baby lay hot and still,

And the doctor talked in a solemn way

And looked solemn yet—as doctors will.

Close to my knee crept my little lad,

With a piteous, tear-choked tale to tell:

"I'm sorry I ever was mean to him,

And him so little. If he'll get well

I'll give him my soldiers, my very best,

And my truly gun and my fish pole too,

And—I said I wouldn't, but now I will—

Mamma, I'll give him half of you!"

Who can measure Love's power? In his little crib.

The languid baby stirred and smiled,

And the flame of the fever flickered low

As he held out his arms to the older child;

Then, holding him close with one dimpled hand,

"Tarley, Tarley, me loves you!"

He stretched the other to me and smiled

"Tarley's Mamma my Mamma too!"

Much merriment and excitement was caused guessing what each represented. After each had been guessed delightful refreshments were served.

BRACKEN COUNTY'S NEW COURTHOUSE.

(Falmouth Outlook.)

Seventeen thousand dollars has been spent on the foundation of the proposed new courthouse at Brackenville. At this point the work has stopped on account of funds running out. It looks like some one had made a blunder, and we would not be surprised if the snow of many winters will cover that foundation before any brick are laid. Brackenville is the proper place for the court house, but Augusta has always made big eyes at the county temple of justice, and a grape vine report comes from that city to the effect that Augusta is willing to erect a courthouse and give it to the county. If the taxpayers of Brackenville don't keep their eyes peeled they are likely to have a courthouse thrust upon them whether they want it in Augusta or not. The one they have started will cost at least $75,000 when it is built and ready for occupancy.
